REGULAR AGENDA

3. Oral Update from the Chief Executive Officer on CPA Operations

Chief Executive Officer Ted Bardacke highlighted CPA’s Virtual Lobby Day and thanked CAC members that were able to attend. Mr. Bardacke also provided an update on the Board’s rate change decision. He noted that the Board will formally adopt its rates at their June meeting, and they will go into effect in July.

Committee Member Gutierrez requested an update on CPA’s progress towards the 2045 carbon-neutral transition. Mr. Bardacke responded that CPA’s overall portfolio for 2023 is at 75% renewable and 85% carbon-free.

Committee Member Lesser commented on NEM 3.0 policy proceedings. Mr. Bardacke noted that the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) opened up comments for the proceeding in May with a focus on infrastructure, which does not impact CPA. Committee Member Gutierrez commented that CPA should consider taking a position on NEM 3.0.

Committee Member Lesser inquired about CPA’s messaging regarding rolling blackouts. Mr. Bardacke noted that CPA provides information in moments of crisis. Chair Haake suggested that staff develop a position statement and talking points to provide to member agencies and media outlets to minimize misinformation on reliability during rolling blackouts.

4. CPA Operations Customer Programs Update

Senior Director of Customer Programs Jack Clark provided an update on CPA’s programs. He noted that CPA’s programs reflect the agency’s goals and priorities for grid management & resiliency, electrification, and local procurement. Mr. Clark provided an overview of CPA’s Workforce Development, Building Electrification, Power Ready, Power Share, and CALeVIP programs. In addition, Mr. Clark provided a timeline outlining key deadlines and tasks for each program. He also noted that CPA staff would reach out to the CAC when the mid-term local programs strategic plan review is conducted toward the end of 2022.
Vice-Chair Simmons thanked staff, commended Santa Monica for their reach code efforts, and inquired about the 2023 deadline for the Power Ready program. Specifically, he asked why some member agencies did not take advantage of the program. Mr. Clark clarified that CPA engaged all 32 member agencies. However, several agencies were unable to participate in the program for various reasons. Mr. Clark noted that CPA is still interested and open to working with member agencies that did not originally sign on to the program, and staff will continue their outreach to those agencies.

Chair Haake commented that in Culver City reach codes were stopped in large part due to misinformation from SoCal Gas that claimed the program would remove gas from existing homes. Mr. Clark clarified that reach codes mainly focus on new building electrification rather than older buildings. He further noted that CPA is aware of the challenge and will provide a phased approach to the program.

Committee Member West volunteered to assist staff with outreach and engagement on the Workforce Development Program.

COMMITTEE MEMBER UPDATES, ACCOMPLISHMENTS, OR WORK-IN-PROGRESS

Committee Member Fromer invited interested participants to a virtual webinar for Caltech regarding the 2045 carbon-neutral transition. This event will be held on June 13 and June 14, 2022.

Committee Member Gutierrez noted that she participated in a workshop with RAND Inc, which is in the process of creating a report on the resources needed to fulfill the 2045 carbon-neutral transition.

Chair Haake and Committee Member Zucker noted that they’re working on hosting a forum on energy equity and will provide details to the CAC, as it comes together.

COMMITTEE MEMBER COMMENTS

No comments.

ITEMS FOR FUTURE AGENDA

Committee Member Gutierrez requested to add a future agenda item to discuss resources needed to fulfill the 2045 carbon-neutral transition, beyond reach codes.

ADJOURN

Chair Haake adjourned the meeting at 2:38 pm.

BACKGROUND
This monthly report outlines the Community Advisory Committee (CAC) and CPA staff activities in support of the CAC.

WORKPLAN UPDATE
As outlined in Section 3 of the CAC Workplan, on May 17th, CAC members participated in CPA’s 2022 Virtual Lobby Day. The CAC members and staff kicked off the day with a briefing from the California Independent System Operator (CAISO) Board of Governor’s Member Mary Leslie on the system reliability landscape over the next few years.

The goals of this year’s lobby day were to:
1. Update CPA’s legislative representatives on CPA’s community, environmental, and workforce accomplishments over the past year, and CPA’s commitment to reliability and clean energy leadership.
2. Highlight local initiatives member agencies have undertaken in coordination with CPA, such as changing default power rates or advancing CPA programs.
3. Preview legislative priorities and themes on the horizon.

Throughout the day, CAC members and CPA staff met with legislators and their staff. CPA’s 2022 Virtual Lobby Day closed out with a presentation from Senator John Laird, which highlighted priorities for the Senate Climate Working Group, which he currently chairs.

POWER SHARE OUTREACH

As outlined in Section 2 of the CAC Workplan, CAC members leveraged their networks to share information with their communities about the recently launched door-to-door canvassing campaign to promote the Power Share Program. Over the past several weeks, CPA partnered with The Merito Foundation (Ventura County) and Active SGV (Los Angeles County) to educate targeted communities about Power Share. These community-based organizations have conducted door-to-door outreach to provide information on the Power Share bill assistance program, and assisted in enrolling eligible customers at the time of engagement.

NEXT STEPS

Through the end of June, CBOs will continue the door-to-door knocking campaign. As such, staff will continue to provide updated information to the CAC on the outreach efforts.

Summer 2022 Reliability Landscape

June 16, 2022
Overview for CAC – Informative Only

- Informational Presentation on key factors impacting summer 2022 reliability
- Update the CAC on CPA Procurement and Programs that Contribute to Reliability
- Provide CPA’s perspectives on reliability and CA energy market
Factors Impacting Summer 2022 Reliability

- Potential resource shortfalls during extreme weather conditions
  - Delays to anticipated new-build resources, including supply chain issues, and recent Department of Commerce investigation on solar panel imports
  - Drought has reduced availability of hydropower resources

- Wildfires and de-energization events
Summer Reliability Planning after August 2020 Rolling Blackouts

On August 14 and 15, 2020, CAISO was forced to institute rolling blackouts due to a West-wide heat wave.

Factors contributing to the rolling blackouts were:
- Unprecedented heat wave across the Western states resulted in demand exceeding planning targets and resources committed to the RA program
- Equipment failures at fossil fuel plants
- Resource planning targets have not kept pace to ensure sufficient resources can be relied upon during evening hours in an extreme weather event

CPUC, CEC, and CAISO have since undertaken actions to improve summer readiness:
- CPUC has mandated IOU procurement of resources higher than the existing planning reserve margin (PRM) during summer months to ensure sufficient resources are available during another extreme heat wave.
- All LSEs are directed by the CPUC to procure resources in addition to 2019 procurement order, anticipating the retirement of Diablo Canyon.
- LSEs have been asked by the CPUC to submit monthly progress updates on resources that are supposed to be online in summers 2022 and 2023.
Potential Resource Constraint in Summer 2022

Compared to summer 2021, more resources have been added to meet the demand of summer 2022. However, if an extreme weather event like the heat wave in August 2020 occurs, California’s grid remains vulnerable.

2,582 MW of Net Qualifying Capacity (NQC) in September has been added to the grid, but it is offset by 1,005 MW higher load forecast than 2021 due to climate change.

Western Hydro Impacted by Drought

In 2021, California’s monthly hydro electricity generation was 48% below normal, based on the 10-year average.

Current hydro condition is third year below normal in California. Snowpack on April 1, 2022 was 38% of average, compared to 2021’s 60% of average on April 1, 2021.

Pacific Northwest hydro reservoirs are projected to be 94% of average.
Conditions Impacting Clean Energy Development

- Renewable energy developers are facing several challenges in delivering on new build projects, particularly for projects with 2022-2024 online dates.
  - Interconnection delays
  - Ongoing pandemic-related supply chain impacts
  - U.S. trade actions
  - Rising commodity prices, further exacerbated by the Ukraine War
  - Investment Tax Credit (ITC) uncertainty

- Any one of these factors significantly impact project risk; compounded, they are posing unprecedented challenges

- CAISO estimates 600 MWs of resources with original operational date in 2022 have been delayed.
Wildfire Potential in California

- Significant wildfires potential across the state—higher than average temperature so far, and summer temperature forecast to be above normal.

- Drought continues to worsen in most of Southern California, except in areas south of Los Angeles County and west of mountains.

- Wildfire risk and extreme weather could potentially cause 4,000-5,000 MW of resources to be offline. In July 2021, 4,000 MW of hydro imports were lost due to OR wildfires.

- SCE’s ongoing grid hardening work would likely reduce Public Safety Power Shutoff (PSPS) events—SCE estimated that the grid hardening work reduced the number of customers de-energized by 44% in 2021.
CPA Procurement Efforts to Mitigate Development Risks

- CPA has brought online additional 562 MW of new generation, and 150 MW of new battery storage resources since 2018
  - 200 MW of new generation and 150 of new storage achieved COD between October 2021 and June 1, 2022
  - CPA anticipates additional 232 MW storage will be online in summer 2022
- The CPA long-term resource portfolio includes 1,147 MW of solar and 779 MW of storage resources not yet online
- CPA has been actively working with developers to assess project delays
  - CPA has received Force Majeure notices from numerous projects related to the Dept. of Commerce, WRO, COVID-19, and supply chain issues
  - CPA may need to negotiate project Commercial Operation Date (COD) extensions and other terms with developers to avoid project terminations, which would make problems worse in 2023 and beyond
- CPA has requested assistance from Governor’s Office and CPUC staff whenever appropriate to help shorten project delays
CPA’s Power Response Program

Power Response is CPA’s main demand response program

- Customers Receive signup incentives, reduce strain on the grid and greenhouse gas emissions when participating in demand response events

- Smart devices: Customers receive incentives for signing for devices (thermostats, EV charging, etc.) and participating in automated demand response events. Customers also receive annual incentives for participation

- Behavioral Demand Response (BDR): Target of 3,000 participants. Participants will receive participation-based incentives after demand response events, and may be eligible for additional incentives

- Power Response could result in reducing CPA’s load by 3.2 MW in 2022, and 6.2 MW in 2023
CPA Messaging on Reliability

- CPA has met all of its reliability obligations, while adding new added new supply to the grid since last summer
- Programs and communications for customers will be be part of the solution for managing demand; CPA is focused on these efforts
- This year the grid is in better shape; CPA and others have added new capacity and no significant new retirements have reduced supply
- Climate change/drought are demand and supply problems respectively that strain the ability of CAISO to keep the lights on
- Outages, if they occur, will likely come from a confluence of events
  - There is barely enough supply to meet demand during the hottest days this summer
  - If anything goes wrong during a heatwave (wildfires, unplanned transmission or generation outages, insufficient demand response), power outages could be the result
- California waited too long to plan for these issues, leaving very little margin for error, making the grid more vulnerable to supply chain issues and other global challenges
- The planning paradigm is beginning to catch up with events, but it will take a few years to bring enough new capacity online to provide a sufficient margin of safety on the grid
